

From the The Business Journal:

<http://www.bizjournals.com/triad/news/2011/12/05/nc-center-for-global-logistics.html>

N.C. Center for Global Logistics launches new website

The Business Journal by Katie Arcieri, Reporter

Date: Monday, December 5, 2011, 9:41am EST

Related:

Education, Logistics & Transportation

Katie Arcieri

Reporter - The Business Journal

Email

The North Carolina Center for Global Logistics has launched a redesign of its website that aims to become a resource for logistics and supply chain information.

NCCGL's new site includes links to videos detailing logistics careers, a futuristic view of the "Aerotropolis" and information about the center's logistics curriculum.

"We hope our visitors will find this website relevant to their logistics information needs," Dave Hauser, the center's executive director, said in a statement. "We are endeavoring to provide information on what logistics companies are located in the region and the services they provide."

The center is slated to open in 2013 at Guilford Technical Community College's Donald W. Cameron Campus.

Katie Arcieri covers residential real estate, transportation/logistics, aviation, retail and textiles. Contact her at (336) 370-2913.